

Client Meeting - November 17th, 1:30 - 1:55 pm PST

- We updated the client our current progress of the static app. We demo app for the client, explaining what components are there for each page and what will be done next. The individual pages for the static app are mostly finished except for some final styling.
- We informed our client of our current focus which is to finalize those final changes for the individual pages and route them for navigation so the static app is ready for peer testing. Any backend features will be done for the second peer testing
- The client is happy with the update, they stated that they message us later about the placement of the feedback buttons.
